A $12 million project known as the "Foley Field Revival" was completed in January of 2015. The Foley family of Columbus, Ga. is synonymous with Georgia Baseball. They provided the lead gift which provided the foundation for the Bulldogs latest stadium renovation. On Opening Day of 2015, Frank D. Foley III (center) was recognized and received a Bulldog jersey from UGA President Jere W. Morehead (right) and J. Reid Parker Director of Athletics Greg McGarity (left). Since the late 1960s, Bulldog baseball home games have been played at Foley Field.

Bulldogs Primed To Take Next Step

Ike Cousins Head Baseball Coach Scott Stricklin enters his third year directing the Bulldogs, and the 2016 squad is shaping up to be his most dynamic team. This edition of the Bulldogs features a solid combination of veterans and newcomers that look to band together and return to the postseason. After six Bulldog pitchers signed professional contracts last June, Georgia has rebuilt its pitching staff as the aforementioned group accounted for 20 wins, six saves and 319 innings. Here's a look around the diamond, beginning with who will be on the hill:

Collegiate Baseball 2nd Team Preseason All-American Robert Tyler

Starting Pitching: Six Bulldogs are in contention for a starting pitching role when the season begins, according to Stricklin. Along with junior ace right-hander Robert Tyler, junior left-hander Connor Jones and senior right-hander Heath Holder have the inside track for spots in the weekend rotation.

Tyler, a 2016 preseason All-American, was limited to 23.2 innings last year due to an injury but rebounded in the summer to star for the USA Baseball Collegiate National Team, going 3-0 with a 1.00 ERA. Jones and Holder showcased improved skills in the fall. Additionally, a trio of left-handers in sophomore Bo Tucker, freshman Kevin Smith and junior transfer Andrew Gist (Walters State CC) are in the mix.

Bullpen: Looking at the late innings, sophomore right-handers Drew Moody and Blake Cairnes, a transfer from Ga. Perimeter, should get the first opportunities to preserve wins. Moody is healthy now after tossing only 9.2 innings in 2015 due to a sore arm. Both pitched well in late action during the fall and Cairnes reminded the staff of 2015 senior Jared Cheek with his ability to get outs late in the game.

Two of the best young arms from the fall were freshmen right-handers Blakely Brown and Shane Tucker.

"They showed signs of being comfortable and able to contribute in big innings for us," Stricklin said. "Also, freshmen right-hander Trevor Tinder and freshman left-hander Adam Goodman threw a lot of strikes, competed well and should give us quality innings."

Outfield: The cornerstone and returning Most Valuable Player is junior centerfielder Stephen Wrenn while sophomore Keegan McGovern and junior Skyler Weber round out the projected starters. Wrenn led the Bulldogs offensively in 2015, batting .324 with eight home runs and 28 stolen bases, all team highs. McGovern earned Freshman All-SEC honors while Weber posted a team-best 36 RBI.

"Stephen has made another jump in his game; he's even stronger and will be a major factor in our success in 2016," Stricklin said. "With Stephen, Keegan and Skyler back, we've got a lot of experience in the outfield, and we feel good about them."

Freshman Logan Moody proved to be a factor in the fall and should see time in one of the corner spots especially on days that Weber moves behind the plate to catch.

A few more Bulldogs to look for include junior Trevor Kieboom and redshirt freshman Henry Rowling. A healthy Kieboom, who made the transition from the infield, can be a presence in the middle of the order, however he battled a variety of ailments that curtailed his production in 2015. He could see time at first base too.

Infield: The left side of the infield will look familiar to Bulldog fans while the right side likely will feature a pair of freshmen. When Kieboom was sidelined, Georgia turned to Mitchell Webb at third base, and the sophomore has made steady progress.

"Mitchell may have made the biggest jump in the offseason. We were very impressed with his play at third base and his bat will continue to get better," Stricklin said.

Georgia welcomes back senior Nick King who started all 54 games at shortstop in 2015. He enjoyed a tremendous preseason but unfortunately went down with an ankle injury during the Fall World Series. However, he is expected to return for the start of the season.

At second base, look for freshman LJ Talley to become a fan favorite with his ability to play around the infield and to produce at the plate. Like Wrenn, Talley is a hitter that the offense will build around. Junior Mike Bell, sophomore Trey Logan and senior Cody McCance are capable utility infielders as well.

The Bulldogs have a trio of left-handed hitting first baseman in senior Daniel Nichols and freshmen Adam Sasser and Patrick Sullivan. They will begin the season as part of a platoon along with Kiebomm. Also, the veteran Nichols will be an option to be a designated hitter.

Catcher: Freshman Michael Curry is another newcomer to watch for the Bulldogs, as he and junior Skyler Weber will handle the catching duties. Both will get their share of at bats as Weber will see time in the outfield too. Redshirt freshman Aaron Rzucidlo and freshman Jose Mendoza will provide depth.

Schedule: The 56-game slate remains one of the most competitive in the country with 30 conference games and non-conference clashes with the likes of Clemson, Georgia Tech, Georgia Southern and Charlotte to name a few. "We're looking forward to Opening Weekend and facing Georgia Southern. That will be a test for us right out of the gate."

Eighteen of Georgia's first 22 games will be at home including playing host to the Bulldog Invitational, a four-team round-robin tournament Feb. 26-28. The event features Cincinnati, South Alabama and Western Kentucky. Overall, Georgia will play 34 games at Foley Field.

The SEC series home opener for the Bulldogs will be March 18 against Kentucky. The other SEC home series will be with Alabama (March 31-April 2), South Carolina (April 15-17), Ole Miss (May 6-8) and Tennessee (May 19-21). Georgia's SEC road series will be at Mississippi State (March 24-26), Texas A&M (April 8-10), Florida (April 21-23), Vanderbilt (April 29-May 1) and Missouri (May 13-15).

The 14th annual Spring Baseball Classic to benefit Children's Healthcare of Atlanta will be May 17 as the Bulldogs battle rival Georgia Tech at Turner Field. Last year, Georgia blanked Tech 6-0, combining on a one-hitter in front of the largest crowd to see a college baseball regular season game (18,792). The Bulldogs improved to 9-4 against Tech at Turner Field.

The SEC Tournament again will feature the league's top 12 finishers in the regular season and be played in Hoover, Ala. NCAA Regional action at various campus sites begins in early June and culminates with the College World Series (CWS) in Omaha, Neb. The Bulldogs have made six appearances in Omaha including winning the national title in 1990 and reaching the CWS Finals in 2008.

Scott STRICKLIN

Ike Cousins Head Baseball Coach
3rd Season/12th overall
(Kent State '95)

#10

Scott Stricklin enters his third season as the Ike Cousins Head Baseball Coach at the University of Georgia. Since arriving in Athens in, Stricklin, 43, has created an atmosphere of excitement around the program, starting with the current student-athletes, extending to the former lettermen and to Georgia baseball fans around the state. He has organized numerous lettermen functions to help reunite the Bulldogs and steered the $12 million Foley Field Revival project that was completed for the start of the 2015 season.

In his first year with the Bulldogs, he led Georgia back to the Southeastern Conference (SEC) Tournament for the first time since 2012. Georgia increased their overall and SEC win total from 2013 while playing a league-high 30 games against ranked teams in the regular season and did so without their projected No. 1 and No. 3 starters in the rotation and cleanup hitter for much of the year due to injuries. The Bulldogs compiled an 11-game winning streak during the year, which was the longest since 2009, and they captured a series over seventh-ranked South Carolina, the first over a top 10 team since 2011. A total of three Bulldogs signed professional contracts after being drafted.

In year two of the Stricklin era at Georgia, the Bulldogs showed flashes of potential. Georgia posted its first SEC road sweep since 2009 when it won three straight over Tennessee and then followed that up by claiming its first league series at No. 7 South Carolina since 1994. In non-conference action, Georgia won a series over No. 11 Florida State and swept a two-game set from Clemson for the first time since 2009. Then in May, Georgia combined on a one-hit shutout of Georgia Tech at Turner Field in front of the largest crowd to see a college baseball regular season game as 18,792 attended the 13th annual Spring Baseball Classic For Kids.

Georgia battled through the 2015 season while missing two members of its starting rotation and two bullpen arms for a significant stretch as injuries hit the pitching staff for the second straight year. Still, the Bulldog staff posted a sub 4.00 ERA for only the second time since 1977, ending the year at 3.96. When at full strength, the bullpen was a formidable group, allowing just one earned run over the final 29.2 innings of 2015. Offensively from 2014 to 2015, the Bulldogs improved their batting average 11 points and increased their home run total by 27, going from 13 to 40. Georgia had seven players selected in the 2015 MLB draft, which marked the most since 2011.

Stricklin, who led his alma mater Kent State to five NCAA Regionals and the 2012 College World Series, was hired to lead the UGA program on June 3, 2013.

During a nine-year stint with the Golden Flashes, Stricklin posted a 350-188 record, winning five Mid-American Conference regular season crowns and five MAC Tournament titles. Known for developing student-athletes on and off the field, 30 KSU players were selected in the Major League Baseball draft during his tenure, and from 2010-12, the team registered a perfect 1,000 score in the NCAA's Academic Performance Rate (APR) report. KSU was one of only 16 schools in the country to reach this academic accomplishment and the only public institution on the list. Also, the Golden Flashes were honored in Omaha in 2012 for having the highest team Grade Point Average (GPA) of all the eight participants at the College World Series (CWS), owning a 3.09 GPA. For the spring semester of 2013, the KSU baseball team registered a 3.06 GPA.

Stricklin earned his first head coaching job in July of 2004 when he returned to Kent State following three seasons as an assistant coach and recruiting coordinator at Georgia Tech under former KSU head coach Danny Hall. Stricklin began his coaching career in 1998 as a volunteer coach for the Yellow Jackets and then spent two years as the pitching coach at Vanderbilt from 2000-01.

While at Tech, he landed the consensus No. 1 ranked recruiting class in 2002 as they advanced to the College World Series that year, and they made it to an NCAA Super Regional in 2004 before falling to Georgia in Atlanta. His final recruiting class at Vanderbilt was ranked seventh best by Baseball America. In 2011, he served as an assistant coach for the USA Baseball Collegiate National Team.

The Golden Flashes went on the road and won the NCAA Gary (Ind.) Regional and then upset No. 5 national seed Oregon in a Super Regional in Eugene. At the CWS, they eliminated top-ranked Florida and finished tied for fifth. KSU wound up with a final national ranking of No. 5, the highest ranking in team history. Fred Corral, one of the most respected pitching coaches in the country, begins his third season as an assistant coach with the Bulldogs.

Corral arrived at Georgia in June of 2013 to direct the pitching staff after spending four seasons as pitching coach at the University of Memphis. During his career, he has served as an assistant coach in charge of the pitching staff at Tennessee, Oklahoma, Sacramento City College and San Joaquin Delta College plus as an instructor in the professional ranks with the Los Angeles Dodgers and Montreal Expos.

A total of 72 pitchers have been drafted under his tutelage including 12 in the top 10 rounds with eight reaching the Major Leagues. The progress of Georgia's pitchers under Corral is evident as seven have been selected in the MLB draft since 2014 including six last season.

Corral aims to have a healthy rotation and bullpen in 2016 following two straight years where he has had to mold a staff after injuries sidelined the projected No. 1 and No. 3 starters plus an array of relievers. In 2014, a bright spot included Robert Tyler, who earned Freshman All-America honors after going 6-4 with a 2.68 ERA in 80.2 innings. Tyler's ERA was the lowest by a Bulldog starting pitcher in 10 years. Also, Georgia made its first SEC Tournament appearance since 2012. In his second season with the Bulldogs, Corral's staff set a school record by holding teams to a .243 batting average, the previous mark was .251 in 1973.

Corral's work with the Memphis pitching staff saw the Tigers steadily improve their Earned Run Average each season including posting a 3.05 mark in 2013 which was the best for the program since 1976. In three of his four seasons with Memphis, the staff registered 400-plus strikeouts including a record 462 in 2010. In 2013, Memphis' top two pitchers were drafted for the first time in their career: Sam Moll (3rd round, Colorado) and Erik Schoenrock (11th round, San Diego), and Schoenrock became the first Tiger in school history to be named Conference USA Pitcher of the Year. Under Corral, eight Tiger pitchers had an opportunity to play professional baseball including a pair of third round picks.

Prior to arriving at Memphis, Corral worked two stints at Tennessee under different head coaches (2003-04, 2008-09) and three years at Oklahoma (2005-07). In Corral's most recent stint at Tennessee, he helped develop several pitchers who would eventually get drafted including left-hander Bryan Morgado. He went on to earn Freshman All-America honors and strike out 104 batters, marking just the second time in Volunteer baseball history that a freshman eclipsed the 100-strikeout plateau. Morgado was drafted in the fourth round by Philadelphia in 2010.

Corral made the move to head the pitching staff at Oklahoma following the 2004 season in Knoxville. During his three years with the Sooners, he helped OU to a pair of NCAA Regional appearances, including the program's first Super Regional showing in 2006. During Corral's tenure with the Sooners, nine pitchers were taken in the MLB Draft (including 13th-rounder Daniel McCutchen) and six OU hurlers earned All-Big 12 honors.

During Corral's first stint at Tennessee, the Volunteers' pitching staff ranked among the best in the SEC. His staffs posted consecutive sub-3.90 ERAs, and UT's 3.51 ERA in 2004 was the 13th best in the country. The 2004 Volunteer staff recorded the fifth most strikeouts in school history and held opponents to a .243 batting average, which was UT's lowest mark in nine seasons. Tennessee also had three pitchers in 2004 with ERAs that ranked among the top 12 in the SEC.Four of Corral's pitchers at Tennessee were selected in the MLB draft. He signed James Adkins and coached Luke Hochevar, hurlers who rank first and third on UT's all-time strikeouts list.

Corral began his collegiate coaching career in 1993 as a pitching coach at his alma mater, San Joaquin Delta Junior College in Stockton, Calif. He spent two seasons there before going to Sacramento (Calif.) City College (SCC) from 1996-2002. Corral served as the pitching coach at SCC, where he was a vital part of the program's success, working for one of the most successful junior college coaches in the nation in Jerry Weinstein. During this time, SCC produced one national championship, five Bay Valley East Conference titles and a pair of state runner-up finishes. SCC posted a 281-56-1 record for a .833 winning percentage during his tenure.Of the 36 drafted pitchers under his tutelage at SCC, 13 signed professional contracts. Every pitcher Corral coached at SCC was either drafted or transferred to a four-year institution.

Corral's former pupils who have reached the Major Leagues include Matt Riley, Adam Bernero, Mike Neu, Joe Horgan, Daniel McCutchen, Garrett Richards, Charlie Zink and Luke Hochevar. Corral's instruction has helped 72 pitchers reach the professional level. Corral's professional coaching experience came as a pitching instructor in the Los Angeles Dodgers (2000-01) and Montreal Expos (1999) organizations. Also, he served as coach for MLB International when it toured Switzerland in 1994.

As a player, Corral was a first-team All-Pac-10 selection as a left-handed relief pitcher at the University of California in 1987. The Golden Bears' eighth 10-game winner, Corral set a school record for single-season win-loss percentage with a perfect 10-0 record as a junior in 1987. The southpaw added five saves and a 3.75 ERA in en route to earning the team's Most Valuable Pitcher honor. Corral helped lead the Golden Bears to their fourth College World Series appearance in 1988. He finished his two-year Bear career with a 13-5 mark, a 4.50 ERA and six saves. Corral starred at San Joaquin Delta Junior College where he garnered All-Camino Notre Conference honors in 1985 and 1986 before transferring to Cal.

Corral is married to the former Cynthia Drost, of Ripon, Calif., and they have three children, Kaitlyn Joy (15), Justin Jerome (11) and Jordan Patrick (4). Also, they raised two nieces, Marisa (25) and Chelsea (22), and two nephews, Michael (27) and Robert (21).

Scott Daeley enters his third season as assistant coach and recruiting coordinator for the University of Georgia baseball program. Daeley, 38, serves as Georgia's hitting coach, works with the outfielders and is the third base coach. He arrived at Georgia from Kent State in June of 2013 where he was a member of Scott Stricklin's staff for nine years.

In Daeley's first season, Georgia's highlights included returning to the SEC Tournament for the first time since 2012 and two Bulldog hitters being selected in the Major League Baseball (MLB) draft. Shortstop Nelson Ward was a 12th round pick while third baseman Hunter Cole was drafted in the 26th round. In 2015, the Bulldogs had two more hitters sign professional contacts in catcher Zack Bowers and first baseman Jared Walsh while outfielder Keegan McGovern earned Freshman All-SEC honors. Perfect Game's College Recruiting Rankings for the Class of 2015 had Georgia's group at No. 22 nationally and the Class of 2016 checked in at No. 14.

As the hitting coach at KSU, Daeley helped develop 30 All-Mid-American Conference position players, three MAC Players of the Year and six All-Americans. During Daeley's time as recruiting coordinator at KSU, the Golden Flashes assembled classes that excelled both on the field and in the classroom. He was a part of the KSU program that made five NCAA Regional appearances highlighted by the 2012 College World Series.

A total of 36 Flashes were selected in the MLB Draft from 2005-13 including 26 during his final five seasons at KSU. After the 2012 season that saw the Flashes reach the College World Series, Baseball America went back and re-ranked the recruiting classes from 2008 and ranked the Golden Flashes as having the ninth best class. The 2006 class was ranked by Baseball America as the No. 17 class in the country becoming the first Mid-American Conference program to be included in their recruiting Top 25.

In conference play, KSU hitters finished in the top three in the MAC in batting average, runs and on base percentage for the past eight years and finished in the top three in fielding percentage seven of the past eight seasons. The Golden Flashes have led the league in home runs four times and taken home the batting average and runs scored crown on three occasions. In 2009, the Golden Flashes set a single season MAC record for runs scored during a season when they crossed the plate 504 times. The 2012 Kent State offense led the country in doubles with 163 and finished third in hits with 729.

Prior to going to Kent State, Daeley served as a volunteer assistant coach for two years at his alma mater Wake Forest. Daeley rejoined the Wake Forest baseball program in May 2002 after playing three years in the San Francisco Giants organization. Daeley played center field and batted leadoff for the Demon Deacons in 1998 and 1999 and was the catalyst for back-to-back Atlantic Coast Conference Tournament Championship teams. He earned second team All-ACC honors in 1999 with 27 doubles and 83 runs scored, the second most in a single season in Wake Forest baseball history.

A 31st round draft pick of the Giants following the 1999 season, Daeley played with Shreveport, San Jose and Salem-Keizer. Daeley came to Wake Forest from Cypress Junior College in California where he hit .350 and ranked among the school's all-time leaders with 98 runs scored and 43 stolen bases. He was named co-MVP of the 1997 junior college state championships.

A native of Orange, Calif., Daeley received a business degree from Wake Forest in December 2002. Scott and his wife, Alison, have two daughters, Sloan (7) and Paige (5).

Student-Athletes Continue To Perform Well In the Classroom

Georgia had 77 student-athletes named to the SEC Spring Academic Honor Roll for 2015 including eight from the baseball team. To qualify for the honor roll, student-athletes must maintain a 3.00 GPA for the preceeding academic year or have a cumulative GPA of 3.00 at the nominating institution. Also, they must have completed 24 semester hours of academic credit toward a degree and been a member of the varsity team for the sport's entire NCAA Championship segment.

The SEC Academic Honor Roll members from the baseball team were Taylor Hicks (Sport Management), Connor Jones (Communication Studies), Ryan Lawlor (Sport Management), Sean McLaughlin (Marketing), Brandon Stephens (Communication Studies), Austin Wallace (Management), Zach Waters (Agribusiness), Stephen Wrenn (Communication Studies).

Since 2004, the SEC has had a First-Year Academic Honor Roll for those freshman with a 3.0 GPA and at least 24 semester hours.

A trio of Bulldogs made the First-Year Honor Roll last season: Trey Logan (Management), Keegan McGovern (Biology) and Mitchell Webb (Sport Management).

"Home Runs For Hometown Rivals"

Each year, the University of Georgia baseball team participates in various community service events.

For the past five years, Bulldog student-athletes from various sports have helped stage a baseball game at Foley Field featuring Special Olympic players. The fundraiser benefits Athens-Clarke County Special Olympics. The event is billed as "Home Runs for Hometown Rivals" and features a game between Special Olympic players from the Westside of Athens versus Eastside players. Sometimes rain forces the event indoors, but a good time is still had by all.

The unique event features pregame ceremonies, introductions and the student-athletes help the participants swing bats and run the bases. The event has raised more than $2,000 annually through ticket sales, concessions, donations and corporate sponsorships.

The UGA Athletic Scholarship Endowment Program was instituted to allow supporters of the University of Georgia Athletic Association to invest in the educational opportunities of UGA student-athletes. The program is vital to the future of Georgia Athletics by providing the long-term solution of keeping pace with escalating expenses.

A gift to establish a scholarship provides income towards funding a scholarship each year and permanently memorializes the donor or any individual whose honor the scholarship is named. A full scholarship is endowed through a gift of $200,000.

Currently, there are six baseball scholarship endowments. For more information about the Athletic Scholarship Endowment Program, the Coaching Endowment program or other giving opportunities, please contact The Georgia Bulldog Club at (877) 423-2947.

Bulldogs Flash Potential, Aim For Consistency in 2016

Georgia finished the 2015 season with a 26-28 overall mark (10-19 SEC). While the Bulldogs missed the postseason, they did register their first SEC road sweep since 2009 when they won three over Tennessee and then followed that up by claiming their first SEC series at South Carolina since 1994.

Georgia's highlights in non-conference action included winning a series over No. 11 Florida State, sweeping a two-game set from Clemson for the first time since 2009 and tossing a one-hit shutout of Georgia Tech at Turner Field.

Overall, Georgia batted .267 with 40 home runs and 63 stolen bases while posting a 3.96 ERA and a .970 fielding percentage.

Georgia set a school record by holding teams to a .243 batting average, the previous best was .251 in 1973. Also, the Bulldog bullpen allowed just one earned run over the final 29.2 innings pitched.

For a month during the season, Georgia was without its No. 1 starter (Robert Tyler) and No. 3 starter (David Sosebee) plus two relievers (Taylor Hicks and Drew Moody) due to injuries.

Junior Ryan Lawlor was an 8th round draft pick of Atlanta.

Wrenn ranked as one of the top defensive centerfielders in the SEC. He ended the regular season with the second most stolen bases in the league with 28, the most by Bulldog since a record 31 by Chaz Lytle in 2002.

The other annual team awards went to the following: Junior David Sosebee earned the Jim Umbricht Award as the "most competitive" Bulldog. Keegan McGovern received the Bert Kizer Award, which goes to the first-year letterman who excels on the field and in the classroom. THIS IS SEC BASEBALL

The Southeastern Conference, with its storied 82-year history of athletic achievements and academic excellence, has built perhaps the greatest tradition of intercollegiate competition in baseball of any league in the country since its inception in 1933.

The SEC posted another tremendous season in 2015 with Arkansas, Florida, LSU and Vanderbilt advancing to the College World Series (CWS). An SEC squad has appeared in the CWS 30 of the last 31 years and a team made the CWS Championship series for the eighth consecutive year.

Also, seven league players were selected in the first round of the 2015 MLB draft. The SEC has now had a first round MLB selection each year since 1991 and 105 total in the first round during that time.

LSU won the SEC regular-season title with a 21-8 conference record while Vanderbilt claimed the East at 20-10. Florida won the SEC Tournament title that drew more than 130,000 fans to the event in Hoover.

UNPRECEDENTED EXPOSURE

• SEC baseball received unprecedented exposure during the 2015 season with the SEC Network. More than 80 SEC baseball games were televised on the SEC Network as part of the more than 100 that appeared on the ESPN family of networks. In addition to those games, more than 350 matchups were digitally exclusive SEC Network + events that were available on SECNetwork.com and WatchESPN.

• SEC Network and ESPN2 concluded the regular season with comprehensive coverage of the SEC Baseball Tournament, marking the first time the entire tournament aired on national television.

Did You Know?

• Georgia won the first baseball national title for the SEC in 1990 while LSU has collected six crowns since then (1991, '93, '96, 1997, 2000, '09), South Carolina (2010, '11) has claimed two and Vanderbilt one (2014). There have been eight runner-up finishes including Georgia (2008), Florida (2011), South Carolina (2012), Miss. State (2013) and Vanderbilt (2015).

• In 2008, Georgia became the first school to sweep the following SEC honors in the same season: Player of the Year (Gordon Beckham), Pitcher of the Year (Joshua Fields), Scholar Athlete of the Year (Gordon Beckham) and Coach of the Year (David Perno).

SEC ACADEMIC HONOR ROLL (1984-2015)

In 1984, the SEC developed the Academic Baseball Honor Roll to recognize those athletes who had a 3.0 grade point average (either cumulative or during the past year), and had 24 semester or 26 quarter hours countable toward a degree. Prior to the 1996-97 season, the SEC dropped the requirement of earning a letter for that season. Starting in 2002, the recipients were chosen from the previous calendar year. A total of 99 Bulldogs have been honored 168 times.

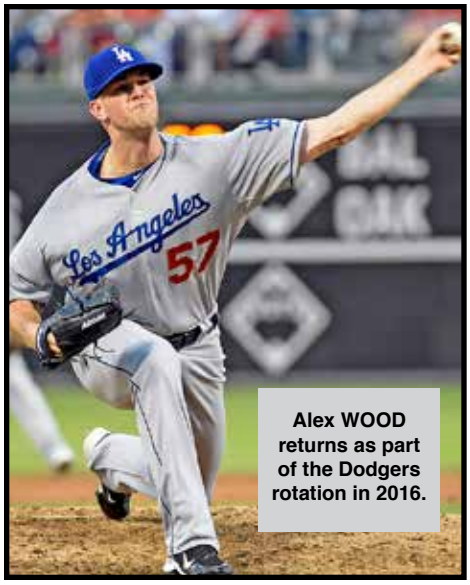
A total of 37 former Bulldogs have reached the Major League level. It began with Claude Derrick for the Philadelphia Athletics in 1909 and continues today. Five Bulldogs saw action in the Majors in 2015 including three advancing to the playoffs with their respective clubs (Alex Wood, Dodgers), Justin Grimm, Cubs, and Josh Fields, Astros).

Looking back in MLB history, Derrick played on Connie Mack's World Championship teams in 1910 and 1911 and, while recovering from a broken ankle in Baltimore in 1912, he was the first roommate of a rookie pitcher named George Herman "Babe" Ruth. Nolen Richardson, a Georgia standout in football and basketball in the 1920s, played six years in the majors and returned to coach the Bulldogs in 1951. Johnny Rucker was featured in LIFE as a promising rookie in 1940.

While many Bulldogs enjoyed success throughout their career, one who stands out is Spurgeon "Spud" Chandler. Chandler was a part of seven World Series teams for the New York Yankees, including winners of six championships. Actually, he first played in Yankee Stadium as a member of the Bulldog football team. Georgia defeated New York University 7-6 on Nov. 7, 1931. Following his graduation in 1932, the Carnesville, Ga., native spent five years in the minors before returning to Yankee Stadium as a major leaguer. In his 11-year career, his finest season came in 1943. He led the league in Wins, Earned Run Average and Complete Games, going 20-4 with a 1.64 ERA and 20 complete games. He went 2-0 with a 0.50 ERA in the 1943 World Series, winning game one and pitching a shutout in the clinching game five over St. Louis.



Alex WOOD returns as part of the Dodgers rotation in 2016.

MLB TRIVIA: Larry Littleton and former St. Louis Cardinal outfielder Michael Potter hold the MLB record for most career at bats by a non-pitcher without a hit. Littleton made the Indians 1981 team out of spring training. He made his debut in game two that season, pinch-hitting in the ninth inning. He grounded out to eventual Hall of Famer Robin Yount. His lone RBI came on a bases-loaded line out off Minnesota's Jerry Koosman that Mickey Hatcher ran down. Most of his at-bats came as a pinch-hitter, and he started just four games over a 45-day span.

GORDON BECKHAM MVP AWARD

Starting in 2014, the annual Most Valulable Player (MVP) Award was named in honor of one of UGA's greatest players, All-American Gordon Beckham. He earned Southeastern Conference Player of the Year as well as SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year honors in his career.

"Gordon possesses all the qualities a program is looking for in their most valuable player, and he continues to represent Georgia in a first class manner as a professional in the Major Leagues," said Ike Cousins Head Baseball Coach Scott Stricklin. "It's a tribute to how he valued the importance of excelling in the classroom and on the field as a Georgia Bulldog."

Beckham arrived at UGA in 2006 as an undrafted infielder and went on to establish himself as one of the best ever to wear the red and black. He was tabbed an All-American and an Academic All-American. He started all 197 games of his three-year career, leading Georgia to a pair of College World Series appearances including the 2008 CWS Finals. He was a first round draft pick of the Chicago White Sox in 2008, made his MLB debut less then a year later and was named the 2009 American League Rookie of the Year by the MLB Players Association and The Sporting News.

Gordon Beckham hit .411-28-77 for the 2008 CWS Finalists

Stephen Wrenn led the 2015 Bulldogs with a .324 batting average, eight home runs, 28 stolen bases and registered 151 putouts in centerfield.

USA BASEBALL TEAM

USA Baseball, based in Durham, N.C., is the national governing body of amateur baseball in the United States and a member of the United States Olympic Committee (USOC).

The organization selects, trains, and supports the USA Baseball Team and a Junior Team which participates in international competitions, including the Olympic Games and World Championships.

While the first official exhibition baseball game in the Olympics was a 1912 contest in Stockholm, Sweden, reports exist that an unrecognized baseball game was played at the 1904 Games in St. Louis, Mo. A number of single game exhibitions were also played at the 1936, 1952, 1956, and 1964 Olympic Games. The 1992 Games in Barcelona was the debut of baseball as a medal sport.

OLYMPIC TEAM

1936 Henry Wagnon, C (Bostwick, Ga.)

Wagnon was one of 22 delegates to the International Sports Congress whose members demonstrated American Games to other nations in Berlin. Although other countries had planned to send teams for the baseball tournament, none did. So, the USA squad split into two teams and played a night game before a world-record crowd reported to be over 125,000. The World Amateurs defeated the USA Olympics 6-5.

A July 4th start against Cuba in front of a sellout crowd at BB&T Ballpark in Charlotte, Tyler pitched four scoreless innings in an 11-1 series-clinching victory in front of 10,352 fans. It matched the largest win over Cuba in national team history. He allowed only a two-out double in his final inning of work.

Georgia pitcher Brian Powell was a member of the 1994 USA squad that had six SEC players.

The 1990 season will long be remembered as the finest ever produced at Georgia.

Catcher Terry Childers' play in the seventh preserved a 2-1 lead as Stan Payne and Dave Fleming combined to lead the Bulldogs to the national title.

Georgia was invited to Washington D.C., to discuss the strategy they used with President George Bush, a baseball letterman in his collegiate days at Yale.

Steve Webber compiled a 500-403-1 record in 16 seasons (1981-96) as the head coach at Georgia. He led the Bulldogs to two College World Series appearances (1987, '90), including a national championship in 1990. After his Georgia coaching career, Webber has served as a pitching coach in the following organizations: New York Yankees, San Diego Padres and the Houston Astros. He will work with the Atlanta Braves in 2016.

GOLD GLOVE AWARDS

2007: Jonathan Wyatt, OF
2008: Rich Poythress, 1B

Beginning in 2007, the American Baseball Coaches Association (ABCA) along with Rawlings Sporting Goods began a program where Rawlings Gold Glove Awards were presented to NCAA Division I players. Nomination and voting criteria are the same as the ABCA Rawlings All-Region and All-American Awards, which are collegiate baseball's oldest selections, dating back to 1949. The players and their schools each receive a Rawlings Gold Glove Award.

Georgia outfielder Jonathan Wyatt was one of the nine inaugural recipients in 2007. He led all SEC outfielders with a perfect 1.000 Fielding Percentage in 164 total chances in his final season with the Bulldogs. He was a 13th-round pick of the Chicago Cubs.

Rich Poythress received national recognition for his stellar play at first base for the SEC champion Bulldogs in 2008, earning a Gold Glove Award. He recorded a .995 fielding percentage in 69 starts with a school record 55 assists to go with 535 putouts in helping the team reach the College World Series Finals. Poythress finished his career with a .993 Fielding Percentage (1323 PO, 127 A, 10 E). He was a second round pick of the Seattle Mariners in 2009.

THE GOLDEN SPIKES AWARD

The Golden Spikes award is given annually to the top amateur baseball player in America. Six former Bulldogs have been nominated for this prestigious honor including first round picks Gordon Beckham (left) and Joshua Fields in 2008 and second round pick Rich Poythress in 2009.

Beckham was a finalist for the award while Fields and Poythress were semifinalists. In 1987, not only was it a banner year for the Bulldogs as a team, but also for some individuals. Pitchers Cris Carpenter and Derek Lilliquist were tabbed as nominees for the award. It marked only the second time that two teammates were nominated in the same year. In 1990 former Bulldog pitcher Dave Fleming, who led Georgia to its first-ever national championship, was nominated.

The winner of the award goes through a selection process in which a 60-person committee ranks the top nine individuals and then selects a winner based upon exceptional athletic ability, sportsmanship, character, and overall contribution to the sport at any level. The winner is automatically enshrined in the United States Baseball Federation's Amateur Baseball Hall of Fame. His named is also added to the permanent Golden Spikes Award at the National Baseball Hall of Fame. In addition, the winner also becomes the USBF's nominee for the AAU's Sullivan Award, which goes to the nation's top amateur athlete.

THE BERT KIZER AWARD

The Bert Kizer Award is named annually to the Georgia baseball letterman, who in his first year, displayed exemplory achievement in the combined areas of academics, athletics and citizenship.

The award was established during the 1991 season. Bert Kizer was a loyal Georgia Baseball supporter for a number of years. In fact, his two sons, Bubba and Craig, both lettered for the Bulldogs. Bubba was an All-America infielder who recorded a career .346 batting average from 1976-78. Craig lettered in 1981-82 and posted a career pitching record of 6-2.

JIM UMBRICHT AWARD

The Jim Umbricht Award is given annually to the Georgia player considered the "most competitive" by the Bulldog coaching staff. The award is sponsored by former Georgia player Johnny Clifton (1951-53) of Atlanta.

Jim Umbricht was a two-sport great at the University of Georgia in the early 1950s. In 1952, he was named captain of both the Bulldog baseball and basketball teams, playing shortstop and guard, respectively. From Georgia, he went on to a successful professional baseball career. He spent time with the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Houston Colt .45s. He was part of the Pirates World Series Championship team in 1960. In 1963, he was named Major League Baseball's Comeback Player-of-the-Year. He died in 1964 at the age of 33 after a bout with cancer.

MORTON HODGSON: One of the Best Ever

Morton Hodgson (1906-09) not only was a starter for four years in baseball, he lettered in football, basketball and track. He was Georgia's first four-letter athlete. A hometown hero, he hit .333 on the 1908 championship squad that was considered one of the greatest teams ever fielded by the University. The pitching staff was so strong it shut out 12 opponents, six in succession. He was named to Grantland Rice's All-Southern team.

His sons were stellar athletes for the Bulldogs and two of his grandsons lettered in football under Coach Vince Dooley. He is the only Georgia player to have a son and two grandsons letter in football at Georgia.

BULLDOG LORE

While C.E. Morris served as the coach for Georgia's first team in 1886, Hughie Jennings is credited with being the Bulldogs' first official coach. He played for 17 years in the Major Leagues while also managing the Detroit Tigers from 1907-20. He was the second shortstop and among the first 35 men elected to the Hall of Fame.

Former Bulldog Claude Derrick began his career with the Philadelphia Athletics in 1909 and played on two World Championship teams in 1910 and 1911. In 1912 with Baltimore, Derrick was the first roommate of rookie George Herman Ruth, better known as "The Babe."

Home of The Bulldogs

Foley Field has served as Georgia's home since 1966, and the stadium was constructed in 1990. Renovations to the facility have been made over the years, and the most recent was a $12 million project titled the "Foley Field Revival" that was completed in January of 2015.

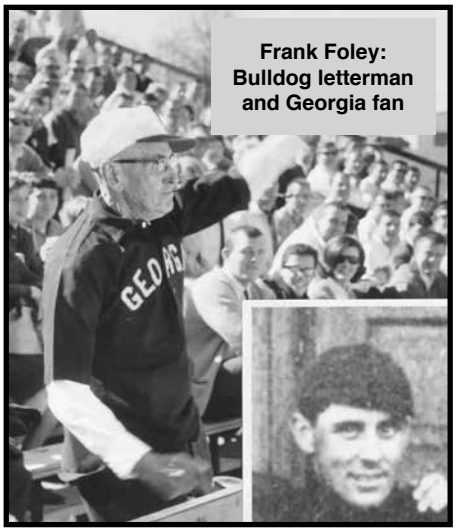
The Foley family of Columbus is synonymous with Georgia baseball, and they provided the foundation for the Bulldogs latest stadium renovation with another leadership gift.

The large-scale measures of the revival included the following: Redesigning the stadium's main entrance, additional restrooms and concession areas, an expanded press box, club-level and field-level seating, improvements to the dugouts, Georgia's locker room and team lounge, training room and batting cages.

In 2013, improvements to Foley Field included the right field area formerly known as "Kudzu Hill," (now the Garden Club Terrace), the installation of a new high-definition video scoreboard and new trees behind the outfield fence.

Foley Field has served as a memorable postseason advantage for the Bulldogs. Georgia is 21-7 in the NCAA postseason in Athens including 16-0 in elimination games.

Bulldog fans have witnessed Georgia clinch trips to the College World Series in 2001, 2006 and 2008. Also, the Bulldogs won an NCAA Regional at Foley Field in 2004 and eventually advanced to the CWS that year too.



Frank Foley: Bulldog letterman and Georgia fan

Judge Frank Foley is considered one of Georgia's all-time greats for his contributions both on and off the field. Foley was a part of the 1908 Southern championship team that recorded a mark of 20-2.

He was a distinguished alumnus who is remembered by many as a kind and caring gentleman. His enthusiasm for the University of Georgia was second to none.

Before Foley Field

The first home for Georgia baseball was Herty Field from 1886 until 1911. Then, it was Sanford Field until 1943. Pond Lippett threw the first no-hitter at home in Georgia history, blanking Pittsburgh 6-0 in 1920. Fred Sale pitched a perfect game at Sanford Field in 1923, a 4-0 win over Virginia. It was the first perfect game in Bulldog history and one of only two to date.

After World War II, the Diamond Dogs played on a field with no name located on "Ag. Hill," where Stegeman Coliseum is today. When construction for the Coliseum began in 1962, Georgia moved to its freshman field, which is next to where the Butts-Mehre building is now. In 1966, Georgia moved to its current location, and two years later, it was named Foley Field. On May 5, 1990, a $3.5 million refurbished Foley Field was dedicated.
